
2004 chrysler pacifica Chrysler says the new 2004 Pacifica creates its own niche as a sports tourer

Posted by Mopar Man - 2008/05/13 18:48

Friday, June 13th, 2003 Chrysler says the new 2004 Pacifica creates its own niche as a sports tourer JIM ROBINSON Brampton Guardian Looking vaguely like a minivan, the 2004 Chrysler Pacifica is what DaimlerChrysler calls a sports touring vehicle that combines minivan seating space with luxury car appointments. (prices mentioned are CDN $$$)

2004 chrysler pacifica Chrysler says the new 2004 Pacifica creates its own niche as a sports tourer

Posted by Ted Mittelstaedt - 2008/05/13 18:48

Mopar man you know better than this. Please post a link to the article with a 1-line summary of what it was all about. I have no desire to wade through a bunch of dreck to find out if it's an article I would want to read anyway. Ted

2004 chrysler pacifica Chrysler says the new 2004 Pacifica creates its own niche as a sports tourer

Posted by Mopar Man - 2008/05/13 18:48

Please post a link to the article with a 1-line summary of what it was all about. I have no desire to wade through a bunch of dreck to find out if it's an article I would want to read anyway. What's the diff if you read it here (as a posting) or read it by clicking on a link. Either way you can read as much as you want and stop any time. I find it's faster when just the text of an article is copied as a posting rather than clicking on a link and 1) waiting for all the html junk, ads, graphics, etc to load from some far-off server, or 2) waiting for the link to load and then find out that the page was pulled. Here's the link if you want it: <http://www.thebramptonguardian.com/br/wheels/story/1133196p-1350725c....>

2004 chrysler pacifica Chrysler says the new 2004 Pacifica creates its own niche as a sports tourer

Posted by dodgeboy - 2008/05/13 18:48

Please post a link to the article with a 1-line summary of what it was all about. I have no desire to wade through a bunch of dreck to find out if it's an article I would want to read anyway. What's the diff if you read it here (as a posting) or read it by clicking on a link. Either way you can read as much as you want and stop any time. I find it's faster when just the text of an article is copied as a posting rather than clicking on a link and 1) waiting for all the html junk, ads, graphics, etc to load from some far-off server, or 2) waiting for the link to load and then find out that the page was pulled. Here's the link if you want it: <http://www.thebramptonguardian.com/br/wheels/story/1133196p-1350725c....>

2004 chrysler pacifica Chrysler says the new 2004 Pacifica creates its own niche as a sports tourer

Posted by dodgeboy - 2008/05/13 18:48

Please post a link to the article with a 1-line summary of what it was all about. I have no desire to wade through a bunch of dreck to find out if it's an article I would want to read anyway. What's the diff if you read it here (as a posting) or read it by clicking on a link. Either way you can read as much as you want and stop any time. I find it's faster when just the text of an article is copied as a posting rather than clicking on a link and 1) waiting for all the html junk, ads, graphics, etc to load from some far-off server, or 2) waiting for the link to load and then find out that the page was pulled. Here's the link if you want it: <http://www.thebramptonguardian.com/br/wheels/story/1133196p-1350725c....>

